DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

(A) A method of treatment comprises administering to a mammal a formulation of an anti-fungal agent as listed in claim 2 and there is no additional step needed. The applicant is required to specify one single anti-fungal agent from the list.

(B) A method of treatment comprises administering to a mammal a formulation of an anti-fungal agent as listed in claim 17 and there is no additional step needed. The applicant is required to specify one single anti-fungal agent from the list.

(C) A method of treatment comprises administering to a mammal a formulation of an anti-fungal agent as listed in claim 2 and additionally administering a low carbohydrate diet. The applicant is required to specify one single anti-fungal agent from the list.

(D) A method of treatment comprises administering to a mammal a formulation of an anti-fungal agent as listed in claim 17 and additionally administering a low carbohydrate diet. The applicant is required to specify one single anti-fungal agent from the list.

If the additional step of administering a low carbohydrate diet is elected for the method, the applicant is further required to specify one single type of low carbohydrate diet from the list in claims 16.

Art Unit: 1614

The species are independent or distinct because the antifungal agents used in the method of treatment are different. Different antifungal agents are different chemicals having different structures and biological effects. Different types of low carbohydrate diet are digested differently in a mammal's system and therefore have different results when used in conjunction with the antifungal medication for treating the claimed disease conditions. The presence or absence of using a specific diet in the treatments of the claimed conditions would result in different treatment with different amount of antifungal medication needed and different duration of treatment.

In addition, further species election is required as follows to specify the mammal of the treatment:

- (a) a mammal having diabetes
- (b) a mammal having diabetes-indicating symptoms
- (c) a mammal having multiple sclerosis
- (d) a mammal having multiple sclerosis-indicating symptoms

The species are independent or distinct because these mammals have different diseases. Different diseases have different causative factors and their own unique pathology and thus the method of treating different diseases would be different.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, all claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1614

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
